

Piercing the Reich - Optional Rule

22.9 Exchange Position Action ( AP Cost: 2)

A combat unit (or a stack of combat units belonging to the same formation) in the parent HQ's Command Range may exchange position with a combat unit (or a stack of combat units belonging to the same formation) in an adjacent hex. To conduct an Exchange Position Action, simply pick up the units in question and place them in their destination hexes.

One combat unit (or one stack of combat units belonging to the same formation) must be part of the activated formation, but the combat unit (or a stack of combat units belonging to the same formation) in the adjacent hex may be part of another, unactivated formation if this combat unit or stack is in its parent HQ's Command Range, too. This is an exception to the rule that only units belonging to an activated formation are eligible to conduct Actions.

A unit conducting an Exchange Position Action may leave an EZOC, but may not move directly into another EZOC. Infiltration Movement (13.4) is not allowed.

Piercing the Reich Roster Sheets

Some players prefer the marking off of losses on Roster Sheets instead of Strength Point Markers. Here are the Roster Sheets - please feel free to copy them for your personal use:

Piercing the Reich - Errata

The German Strength Point Loss Tabulator needed in scenarios #4 and 5 is missing.

Here is it:

The US player receives a certain number of Victory Points per German Strength Point lost, as follows:

- |                |                    |                           |
